Question	Answer	Explanation
1	B	The first paragraph explains that easy access to online information may reduce people's motivation to remember things themselves. This is the central idea behind digital amnesia.
2	C	The text states that people tend to remember information that is meaningful, emotionally important or useful. Such experiences are therefore more likely to stay in our memory.
3	C	The writer takes a balanced view of technology. Digital tools can support memory and learning, but becoming too dependent on them may reduce concentration and prevent people from actively processing information.
4	A	The two examples illustrate that the effect of technology depends on how it is used. Looking up an unfamiliar word can support learning, whereas translating an entire text immediately may prevent students from developing their reading skills.
